DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's amendments filed October 20, 2005 have been entered. Claims 6-28 are pending.

The outstanding rejection under 35 USC 103(a) is withdrawn in view of the applicant's remarks with regard to the expectation of success.

A new ground of rejection is set forth below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 6-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US patent 6,098,631 ('631) in view of Bridges (WO 98/3788). Bridges is reference of record.

Art Unit: 1617

'631 teaches the inhibition of MEK1 is a target for treating Rheumatoid arthritis (RA) (See col. 7, lines 35-46).

'631 does not teach the herein claims compounds in a method of treating RA.

Bridges teaches that the active compounds herein are MEK inhibitors (See page 3, line 16 – page 22, line 29). Bridges also teaches the specific MEK inhibitor recited in claim 17 herein as a preferred MEK inhibitor (See page 22, line 24-25).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to employ the herein claimed compounds in a method of treating RA.

One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to employ the herein claimed compounds in a method of treating RA. Since the inhibition of MEK1 would be useful in treating RA, employing the compounds of Bridges, which are known to be useful as MEK inhibitors, in a method of treating RA would be reasonably expected to be effective.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 6-28 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
